

Problem/Solution Organizer

Problem	Solution
Easterners needed a route west to the Ohio River.
People started arguing about money and where the roads should go.
The locomotive started competing with the roads. They thought rails were a better mode of transportation.
The National Road turned into a dirt path and it affected cyclists farmers and the newly invented automobile.
Roads were not connected or numbered.
The military needed to move from place to place without delays.
The overuse of natural resources caused many problems including pollution.
What might be some problems in the future?	